2022

Over 26 years ago, the Arlington High School Alumni Association organized. One of the first volunteers to join in was Paul Swartz, Class of 1959. Early on Paul saw an opportunity to use his professional skills as a salesman to our advantage. So he and his steadfast volunteer Betty Swartz have headed up the retail division of Alumni Products. Paul has stocked, stored and lugged shirts, caps, mugs, rocks (yes, rocks), jewelry, and whatever caught his eye as a fundraising item for our Scholarship Fund. Paul was named a Distinguished Colt Alumnus for his years of giving back to AHS. Although he has recently stepped away from the Alumni Board of Directors, he will never stop finding ways for our organization to do more for Arlington High! As you can see, even in 100° heat on July 3, Paul helped other directors prepare our float for the parade. Thank you, Paul Swartz—a True Colt if there ever was one—for your good ideas, your hard work, your positive attitude, and your enduring love for Arlington High School.

Class of 2022 Alumni Scholars

ELLA AUSTIN

Class of 1963 Jordan Kemp Keyes Wood Memorial Scholarship
University of Oklahoma
Pre-dentistry/Orthodontics

As a third generation Colt, Ella says, “I have grown up as an Arlington High kid. I have gone to Colt games literally since birth.” After a playoff win, four-year cheerleader Ella saw, “the genuine love for AHS shining on every face of every fan. AHS is different from other schools because its ‘people’ support the school so passionately. When students enter the doors of Arlington High, they enter a giant family. This unites all ages, demographics and religions. It is the tie that binds us all. Being so involved at AHS has taught me that you get out of school what you put into it. At OU, I want to get connected the best I can. I have been in the 76013 bubble my entire life. It has been an incredible community that comes together to “raise” its kids. Now I am ready to spread my wings and stand on my own two feet.”

MARIA CALZADA

University of Texas Arlington
Pre-K/Elementary Education/Psychology

Being part of the first generation of college students from her family, Maria has the goal of a better future for herself and her community. She wants to create bright, but challenging, changes through teaching. She says, “I volunteer to help Ukrainian students learn English. I want to translate a world of uncertainty into a world of hope. I know the impact AHS teachers have on the school and their students. There isn’t one morning when teachers display a pessimistic attitude. Their smiles, kindnesses and acknowledgements encourage positive attitudes in students. The circle of encouragement can never be broken. Arlington High School transmits a contagious bond.” A few hours into her first day freshman year, she realized, “Arlington High was a long-lasting route to happiness.”

MCKENZIE CARLIN

Greater Arlington Lions Club Scholarship
Oklahoma State University
Education/History/Administration

McKenzie chose these three words to describe the Arlington High experience: tradition, honor, family. “AHS has grown in size, but it has not outgrown its traditions. The Alma Mater with linked pinkies and lifted horseshoes and everyone singing shows how much we love our school and its environment. It is an honor to go to the THE Arlington High School—the first high school in our city. As a softball player it was my honor to represent my school on the field. Everywhere on campus signs say, “COLTS FAMILY.” The Colt Family is all over the city. People see me in an Arlington High shirt and say they are alumni. It makes me very proud to be a Colt!”

MARY NELLE CRAVENS

Teacher of the Year - Rebecca Tate Scholarship
University of Texas at Austin
Business

Day 1: “The hatches swing open and an ocean of sounds, smells and colors wash over me. It’s the first day of high school. My heart is pounding. I can almost taste my salty palms. Arlington High is the oldest high school in town. Even her halls have their own sense of humor and personality. They echo. They wander like a river finding its way.” A dozen of Mary Nelle’s family walked the halls before her. “I realize it is my turn to live out the tradition and find my way in this storied school known as Colt Country. I could have gone to Martin’s STEM Academy, but I stuck to my roots and the tradition of AHS. ‘FIRST HERE, BEST HERE’ hits home for me. My degree plan will focus on social accounting—how companies can impact their communities. I hope to come back and give back to Arlington and Arlington High.”

JULIA LASWELL

Greater Arlington Lions Club Scholarship
Texas Christian University
Economics or Bio-chemistry

As a freshman inspired by the involved and studious upperclassmen in her Student Council class, Julia found a goal. “I wanted to be Student Body President my senior year. I put in the work, serving as class president in my both sophomore and junior years, and also as Student Body Secretary. I reached my goal in the spring of 2021. Although I had to revel in this moment from my bedroom because of COVID, it was a moment I’ll never forget. I’m proud to serve a school with so much tradition while continuing the years of Colt Spirit. Trying to manage my extracurriculars, grades and social life sometimes feels impossible. There is always something happening on campus. Most of the time, it feels like it involves me. Life at AHS is just plain fun.”

ERICSON ORTIZ
Texas A&M University
Aerospace Engineering

ERICSON SAYS, “SPIRIT, PRIDE, TRADITION: three words which mean ‘Home, Sweet Home’ when students walk through the doors of AHS. Because there is something for everyone here, we learn to love our school and our peers. We are proud to say we are from AHS and proud we are ‘First Here, Best Here.’ AHS makes me feel like I experienced a tradition as it first began. When we link our pinkies as we sing the Alma Mater, we connect with each other and with former students, too. As a member of the Colt Band, I loved performing in front of many past, present and future Colts. As a first generation college student, I hope to influence others to know they can make it no matter where they started.”

DANIELA SANDOVAL

Greater Arlington Lions Club Scholarship
University of Texas at Arlington
Nursing

Two experiences stand out about AHS for Daniela. For the first time, she was asked to go to Homecoming this year, but “I had never made a garter. Mrs. Dahlin overheard this and assisted me. She told me where to get supplies. She even brought her own box of materials to help me. Her kindness highlights the type of individual I strive to be. Then Mr. Collins convinced me to rejoin the wrestling team. The team was more like a family, joking around, getting along, working hard, getting serious when we needed to be. I know I will be able to succeed in the Honors program as I prepare for my dream career of being a nurse from UTA’s #1 nursing program. I’m going to join the wrestling club, too! I will be a first generation college student.”

SYDNEY SEIBOLD
Cathy Bontley Brown Scholarship
Texas A&M University
Business Administration

Sydne appreciates the adaptability AHS displayed during the interruption of normal life during COVID. “When we all came back after the gap year, the school teemed with excitement. The campus truly reflects the AHS Spirit! Pride! Tradition!” A most advantageous quality of our school is its diversity—diversity of race, thought, interest, socio-economic class, religion. AHS represents society at large. This is a huge benefit for students. It has brought me amazing friends who I thought I had nothing in common with. They brought me their thoughts, ideas, opinions which gave me insight on other points of view. The Colt Family is composed of people in all shapes, sizes, colors, beliefs and backgrounds.”

RILEY SMITH
Captain William Nation, Class of 1936, Memorial Scholarship
Tarleton State University
Business Management

Riley admits, “The first few days at lunch were awkward and strange. Soon my lunch group was full of friends from far and wide—a group I will not forget for the rest of my life. Arlington High School is a positive, warm place to make friends and feel welcome. In addition, the teachers make it an enjoyable school. They always have your back. For college I hope to make the Dean’s list a few times while getting my certification for HVAC maintenance. This will allow me to work for an HVAC company, one day owning my own business. Despite the gargantuan cost of college, earning a degree creates more career opportunities than attending a technical school or getting a job immediately after high school.”

AUDREY WAGGENER

Greater Arlington Lions Club Scholarship
Texas State University

Audrey has plans! “After college graduation, I plan on joining the Peace Corps. To prepare for that I have applied for Americorps working with low income and at-risk children in the DFW area. My ultimate goal is to work for the United Nations as a humanitarian aid worker. No one in my family has gone to college. I plan to represent my family well while expanding my education and building lifelong friendships. I did that at Arlington High in the Colt Band and in Key Club where I volunteered at swim meets in the AISD Natatorium. Once I started going to football games, I realized just how amazing it is to attend a Colt football game. Win or lose everyone in the stands and on the field gathers together to make horseshoes while the school song is played. There is nothing quite like the feeling of family at that moment under the Friday night lights.”
